

Most pastors believe ministry should be shared. So why are so many still carrying so much of it alone?

96%

say laypeople taking responsibility is a mark of a healthier church.

41%

say their church is doing a poor job developing new leaders.

Only 9% of pastors strongly agree their team is good at developing new leaders.

If the first time we think about delegation is when the pastor is exhausted, we waited too long.

In 2026, pastors said delegation was one of the most helpful steps they could take. They also named it one of the hardest.

Jesus called the Twelve to be with Him before He sent them out.

WITH HIM

MARK 3:14

They stayed close enough to watch Jesus, ask questions, fail and learn.

SENT TOGETHER

MARK 6:7

Jesus gave authority and a clear assignment. No one went alone.

BACK WITH HIM

MARK 6:30-31

They told Him what happened. Jesus called them to rest.

Who is close enough to watch you lead, understand why, carry something real, and come back to talk about it?

You do not have to fix the whole system this week. Start with one person already near you. Invite them into one real part of ministry.

The same Holy Spirit that is gifting you, empowering you, teaching you is in them and calling them.
